Improvements and New Features

Data Protection

- Support for TSM Now Includes Platform Level Backup

Users can now map directly to IBM's TSM storage system from the Device Manager in DocAve, allowing users to store data generated from Platform-level backup plans.

- Support for Moving Granular Backup Data

Users who wish to manually move backup data from one DocAve Manager to another, from one logical device to another, or simply to move data off of a physical device and replace it at a later time can now register this data with the Restore Controller again from this control panel option. Please see the latest User Guide on the AvePoint website for more information on this feature.
